

On Wed, Apr 18, 2018, Thea Gray <theagray@gmail.com> wrote:

Ginger studiously ignored Fred's not-so-subtle ploys to get his hands on her knitting project, having foolishly embarked on a transcontinental cruise without his own.

Reminder that tonight is knitting/crochet/stitching/bitchin' night at BookShop WestPortal!
As usual, we'll be there from 7 to 8:30.

Also, anyone interested in participating in the L'Enveloppe knitalong should bring yarn to swatch to check their gauge. BTW, I am using a yarn that is a knitting teacher's worst nightmare: black bouclé. Be nice to yourself and consider a not-too-fuzzy, not-too-dark yarn for your project so it's easier to count your stitches and rows.

Looking forward to seeing you tonight, no matter what you're stitchin'!

Hugs,
Thea